The Canadian Foreign Policy Journal is sponsoring a conference for young scholars on Canada's international policies

When: November 6-7, 2003

Where: The Norman Paterson School of International Affairs, Carleton University

Focus: The conference will feature papers by new scholars, defined as those who: are in the final stages of completion of a Ph.D. dissertation; have held a Ph.D. for seven years or less or; have held a tenure track appointment in a university for seven years or less. New scholars are invited to submit proposals to present papers on Canadian international policy issues related to trade, economics, politics, security, defence, development, environment, immigration, and intelligence. Papers not specifically concerned with Canada's international politics, but which would be of particular interest to those in the field, will also be considered.

Contact: Elizabeth James, Norman Paterson School of International Affairs, Carleton University, (613) 520-2600 ext. 6671.

"The Portuguese in Canada: Progress, and Prospects"

Focus: For this issue, the Portuguese Studies Review will be accepting full-length scholarly papers, short research reports, and literature surveys. The preferred length for papers is c. 8,000 words, for short research reports c. 2,500 to 3,000 words, and for literature surveys a maximum of about 3,000 words. The literature surveys should be closely tied, in terms of relevance, to implications for the future of the Portuguese presence in Canada. For further details and for style sheet and submission requirements, see our website, and the Submissions section of our website.

International Canadian Studies Symposium Across Time and Space: Visions of Canada from Abroad

When: September 12 - 14, 2003

Where: Canadian Studies, University College of the Cariboo, Kamloops, British Columbia

Focus: The current vibrancy of international scholarship in Canadian Studies is due in large measure to the diligent academic tradition of inquiry and research that examines Canada from a distance. The conference will include presentations on varied related topics: Canadian literature, politics, history, culture, and First Peoples.

Contacts: Ginny Ratsoy (ratsoy@cariboo.bc.ca); Anne Gagnon (agagnon@cariboo.bc.ca); Martin Whittles (mwhittles@cariboo.bc.ca) or visit <http://www.cariboo.bc.ca>.

The Centre for Rupert's Land Studies

When: May 26-29, 2004

Where: Kenora, Ontario, on Lake of the Woods

Focus: The CRLS welcomes paper and session proposals that relate to any aspect of history in the Hudson's Bay Company territories (known as Rupert's Land) and its surrounding borderlands. Because the Rupert's Land fur trade had cultural and economic connections through Asia, Europe and North America, there are no geographic limits to the scope of the conference. However, given the location on Lake of the Woods, there may be authors in the Superior, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Winnipeg River basins and north-western Ontario region who would like to use this opportunity to share their research with the CRLS.
